

Pearl Harbor
Furor Rages;
Many Demand
Open Trials

(By The Associated Press)
Washington Aug. 30 (AP)—The Army and Navy were ready today to close the books on Pearl Harbor. But Congress kept the furor over America's greatest Naval disaster going with demands for courts martial and more inside information.

Chairman Elbert D. Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate Military Committee remained silent pending talks with war department officials.

But Chairman May (D-Ky) joined a couple Republican members of the House Military Committee in clamoring for a military trial to fix responsibility for what happened Dec. 7, 1941, when Japan destroyed or crippled a major segment of the Pacific fleet.

Some legislators too renewed their clamor for merging the Army and Navy into a single department of national defense.

"Top secret" labels were pulled yesterday from findings of special Army and Navy boards of inquiry into Pearl Harbor and accompanying reports by Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet.

Name Big Whigs

One or another of the reports pointed accusing fingers at half a dozen men in high position, including Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and former Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

There were no recommendations for courts martial or punishment. And President Truman indicated there would be no military trials.

The full story has not yet been told. For the reports dealt only with the findings and opinions of the inquiry boards. They omitted most of the testimony on which the reports were based.

A number of senators and representatives, particularly Republicans, wanted a look at the complete record and said so. Some thought the public also was entitled to all the information on Pearl Harbor. Both Stimson and Forrestal said appropriate congressional committees would be given full records and reports.

Declaring he wouldn't stand for "any whitewash," May said last night in a (MBS) radio program that "the people are entitled to know the whole truth based on all the facts pertaining to this grave disaster."

Demands Open Trial

The Kentucky called for a "full, fair and open trial" of Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short and Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, the Army and Navy commanders at Pearl Harbor at the outbreak of the war.

These documents brought sharply into focus a number of points previously unknown or obscured. For example:

1. Kimmel was advised by Admiral Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, on Nov. 24, 1941, that "a surprise aggressive movement in any direction, including an attack on the Philippines or Guam, is a possibility."

2. A diary of Secretary Stimson said the late President Roosevelt declared at a White House conference November 25 that Japan might attack by December 1.

3. Secretary Hull gave the Japanese a 10-point counterproposal to their peace suggestions on November 26, and the Army inquiry board said this "touched the button" of war.

4. Stark sent Kimmel next day a message which was relayed to Short. It said: "Consider this dispatch a war warning." It added that Japan was expected to make an aggressive move within a few days and that an "amphibious expedition against either the Philippines, Thai, or Kra peninsula or possibly Borneo is indicated." There was no mention of Pearl Harbor, but Kimmel was told to execute "a defensive deployment."

5. On the same day, Marshall notified Short that hostile action was possible "any moment" and that this country desired that Japan commit "the first overt act." It ordered reconnaissance activities, but not of a type to alarm civilians. It also said U. S. policy was not to be construed as restricting Short to action that "might jeopardize your defense."

6. Short reported the next day he had put into effect an anti-bombing alert.

7. Kimmel conferred with his fleet intelligence officer on December 2 and noted and commented on the absence of information on four Japanese carriers. They were part of the six in the task force already headed for Hawaii.

8. Stark wired Kimmel on December 3 that Japanese diplomatic and consular posts at Hong Kong, Singapore, Batavia, Washington and London had been ordered to destroy (Please Turn to Page 3)

LARGE CROWD AT LITTLESTOWN VICTORY MARCH

A crowd variously estimated at from 7 to 10,000 witnessed the Victory Parade Wednesday evening at Littlestown and attended the program which followed on the playground.

Observers said that it was the largest parade ever held in Littlestown and that the attendance exceeded any audience at previous community observances.

The parade was approximately one and one-half miles in length and required about one hour and a half to pass one point. It was composed of nine divisions.

Heading the line of march was a detachment of state police followed by the chief marshal, Leroy Wintrop. The American and Pennsylvania State flags followed and immediately following were massed flags of various churches and organizations.

In Line of March

Included in the line of march were the following:

Division 1—American Legion drum corps, Hanover; four cars with representatives of veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American, World War I and World War II; Gold Star mothers in automobiles; official cars.

Division 2—Veterans of Foreign Wars, Littlestown American Legion, World War II veterans; Troop C, First Cavalry Squadron, Pennsylvania State Guard; Westminster band; three troops of Girl Scouts and one troop of Boy Scouts.

Division 3—W. F. Myers band, Westminster; 15 large floats; POS of A band, Hanover.

Division 4—Taneytown band; decorated bicycles.

Division 5—"Queens of the Day," young ladies attired in evening dresses riding on trucks.

Division 6—Fire companies from Taneytown, Hampstead, Manchester, Thurmont, Union Bridge, Westminster, Gettysburg, McSherrystown and Littlestown.

Division 7—Knights of Pythias band, Hanover; "Food for Victory" floats from rural communities consisting of trucks and flat bed cars.

Division 8—Littlestown high school band; approximately 50 decorated horseback riders.

Division 9—Littlestown ambulance.

Playground Program

The Rev. D. S. Kammerer presided as master of ceremonies at the playground.

The program follows:

Explanation of the purpose of the celebration, Prof. Paul E. King; "America," sung by the group with band accompaniment; invocation, the Rev. John Weber; group singing of patriotic numbers led by the Rev. T. W. Boltz; poem, "Sail On O Ship of State," Stanley M. Staub; vocal solos, "America Befriended," MacBowan, and "My Buddy," MacDonald, by Miss Marie Budde; with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Earl D. Snyder.

Introduction of war veterans was then made. George D. Krug, 99, Civil war veteran, was unable to attend due to illness, it was explained, following which the Knights of Pythias Band of Hanover played "Dixie." Samuel D. Snyder was presented as a Spanish-American war veteran.

IS AWARDED PURPLE HEART

Wounded during a bombing attack while he was a prisoner of the Germans, Pfc. Charles R. McKenrick, 25, 340 West Middle street, has been awarded the Order of the Purple Heart, it was learned today.

Now stationed with the AGF Replacement Depot No. 1, at Ft. George G. Meade, McKenrick received his early training at Camp Pickett, Va. Going overseas in October 1943 with the 110th Inf. of the 28th Division, he fought in Normandy, northern France, the Rhineland and central Europe.

Taken captive in December 1944, he was placed on commando duty near Leipzig, Germany, and remained there until he was liberated by the 9th Armored April 17, 1945. Returning to the U.S. in May he was given a 60-day furlough, after which he was re-assigned to Ft. Meade as a cadet.

Also decorated with the Distinguished Unit Citation, the Good Conduct ribbon, the ETO ribbon with four stars, and the Combat Infantryman's Badge, his new award brings his point total up to 77.

Two New Teachers Elected In County

At a special meeting of the joint Arendtsville school board and the Franklin township board on Wednesday evening, Miss Jane Louise Gable, of Stewartstown, was elected to teach music in the Arendtsville Vocational school and in those of Franklin township. She is a recent graduate of the West Chester Teachers' college.

At a meeting of the Arendtsville board Miss Mary Lowe, of Stewartstown, was elected to teach Home economics in the Arendtsville high school. Miss Lowe will also have charge of the high school and grade school cafeteria. On the same evening the Butler township directors, the Franklin township directors and those of Arendtsville held special separate meetings.

EXPECT 390 IN RURAL SCHOOLS

Franklin township schools will open next Tuesday with an estimated enrollment of 390 pupils with about 70 boys and girls from the township being provided with transportation to high schools outside the township. The elementary enrollment includes about 320 pupils at the consolidated school at Cash-town and 70 at Strausbaugh's school.

Eleven bus routes will be operated by the township, nine of them transporting elementary pupils and two hauling high school pupils. Some of the elementary school buses also gather high school pupils who transfer to the high school bus at Cash-town. There has been some change in the bus schedules for routes operated by D. S. Mickley and parents involved should contact Mr. Mickley before school opens, a school board spokesman said.

The same teaching staff will serve the township schools with the exception of Miss Jane L. Gable, new music teacher serving Franklin township and Arendtsville districts. She succeeds Mrs. Elmira Slaybaugh Deardorff.

Most Of Town To Observe Holiday

Banks, court house offices, the three furniture factories, most local business places and even the Selective Service and ration boards' offices will observe a full holiday on Monday, Labor Day.

The Gettysburg post office will also observe a holiday and there will not be any rural or city mail deliveries and no window service.

A few rural school districts will begin their school year on Monday but the great majority of districts will conform to the calendar urged upon them by the county board of school directors calling for the beginning of the school term on Tuesday, the day on which Gettysburg schools open.

American Flag Flies Over Nippon As Yanks Land For Occupation

Huge Planes Empty Fully Armed Troops

(By The Associated Press)
Atsugi Airfield, Near Tokyo, Aug. 30 — General MacArthur arrived in Japan and set up headquarters in Yokohama as Nippon's military ruler today amidst the first alien armed forces ever to occupy the sacred islands.

Paratroopers and seaborne marines and sailors, hand-picked to remind Nippon of the invasion of the Philippines, swarmed out of the skies and in from the sea in an unbroken stream.

They took over Atsugi airfield, 18 miles from Tokyo; ran up the American flag over Yokosuka naval base, Japan's second largest; rode by Japanese truck into Yokohama, port of Tokyo where the occupation force will establish general headquarters; and began evacuating prisoners of war from "a black hell hole" where "bestial beatings were common."

No Bloodshed

The occupation is "going splendidly," General MacArthur said. Yanks were moving in an orderly fashion "without bloodshed" and he said the Japanese appeared to be acting in good faith.

The occupation by troops in full battle dress and ready for any contingency, was eight hours old when MacArthur stepped onto Atsugi airfield from his shining silver C-54 transport, "Bataan." At 2 p. m. (1 a. m. Eastern War Time.)

The supreme Allied commander landed amidst cheering paratroopers of the 11th Airborne Division who began pouring from an unending stream of transports at 6 a. m. (5 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern War Time) simultaneous with landings at Yokosuka, led by the Fourth Marine Regiment.

The Fourth Marines, rushed to the Philippines from China, were one of the heroic outfits in the fight for Manila bay and stood to the last on Corregidor. Today's landing was made by a reactivated regiment.

Retook Airfield

The 11th Airborne Division helped MacArthur clear 300,000 Japanese out of the Philippines and were victors at Nichols Field where Japan struck its first blow at the islands.

Paratroop units drove in Japanese trucks, duly saluted by enemy officers, to occupy Yokohama, five miles closer to Tokyo than Yokosuka. This was the first trip toward a juncture between the sea and air-borne forces whose original landings were made 18 miles apart on either side of Miura peninsula.

Both air and sea forces were covered in typical battle fashion by the ready, but silent, guns of an Allied war fleet anchored in Tokyo bay and swarms of planes ranging from fighters to Superforts.

Liberate Prisoners

In a coordinated mercy operation, four ships began evacuating the first of 36,000 prisoners of war in Japan, including 8,000 Americans. Simultaneously, 134 Superforts parachuted 536 tons of supplies to internment camps that won't be reached for days or possibly weeks, by occupation forces.

Today's initial occupation by 18,150 armed Americans and British will be followed by major occupation forces—the Sixth and Eighth armies, which helped MacArthur fulfill his pledge to return to Manila.

Steel-helmeted Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Swing led his 11th division paratroopers from Okinawa to Atsugi. He was the first to touch Japan as the greatest mass air transport of the Pacific got underway.

Troops Fully Armed

An unending stream of C-54 transports, each carrying 40 man loads, landed on the 5,600 foot runway at three minute intervals with clock-like regularity disgorging 7,500 paratroopers, garbed in battle green and fully armed.

MacArthur called the cheers and music which greeted him "the sweetest music I ever heard."

Yankee Fliers Tell How Japs Beat And Hung Them By Thumbs

Shanghai, Aug. 30 (AP)—Stories of brutal Japanese captors who beat them with bamboo sticks and metal rods until they were black and blue from knee to hip and could hardly walk, were related here by eight American fliers.

One airman said he had his wrists tied behind him and had been hung by his thumbs in efforts by the Japanese to force him to reveal American plans to invade Nippon.

All are in good condition, and their wounds are healing. They still are held by the Japanese who threatened correspondents with bayonets when they first tried to interview them in the YMCA here.

Shot Down May 17

The prisoners are:

2nd Lt. Harold H. Effler, Chicago, pilot of an army B-24 bomber; 2nd Lt. William R. Martin, Jr., Colorado Springs, Colo., and Sgt. Clyde J. Sellers, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.; Navy fliers AMM 1-c Walter Pallack, Chicago; AMM 3-c Frank Maratea, Chicago; AOM 3-c Ted Hauser, North Hollywood, Cal., and Seamen 1-c Jens Martensen, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Richard C. Warner, Dalton, Ill.

Effler and his bomber crew were shot down May 17. The Navy men were on a plane which crashed June 26, following an attack on a Japanese convoy of three destroyer escorts, a picket boat, three cargo transports and two troop transports north of Shanghai.

When Japanese rescuers picked them up, Pallack saw about 1,200 men swimming around from a troop transport that had been sunk by the bombers.

"As the Japs picked up the swimmers each greeted us by slugging us," Pallack related. "We were locked in vegetable bins and beaten every couple of hours."

"The next day on reaching Shanghai we were really beaten up by Jap enlisted men taking turns hitting us."

Hung By Necks

Other tortures included the tying of their hands behind their backs and then being raised with a cord around their necks.

"With our hands tied that way they would give us four or five socks," Pallack said.

Effler, refusing to provide the Japanese with information, was hung by his thumbs for half an hour.

Six released American prisoners of war, survivors of Wake Island, likewise told of Japanese brutalities.

They were Edward Cook, San Francisco, and Amos J. White, Rahway, N. J., civilians, and Marines Cpl. Robert E. Lee, Taylorsville, Ill.; Pfc. Leroy Moritz, Sedro Woolley, Wash., and Sgt. William D. Beck, South Gate, Calif.

Road To Tokyo

(By The Associated Press)
Here, step by step, is the "long, hard road" General MacArthur traveled to Tokyo, as reflected by these shifting locations of his military headquarters:

- Manila, December 7, 1941.
 - Corregidor, December, 1941.
 - Melbourne, Australia, March 17, 1942.
 - Brisbane, Australia, 1942.
 - Port Moresby, New Guinea, 1943.

 - Tacloban, Leyte (Philippines), October 20, 1944.

 - San Miguel, Luzon, February 1945.
 - Manila, February, 1945.
 - Yokohama, Japan, August 30, 1945.
- (Dates of some of the headquarters moves are necessarily vague, since no exact time was ever announced, and staff officers sometimes operated from the new location before an official shift was made.)

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

A daughter was born this afternoon at 1 o'clock to Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, Gettysburg R. 5, at the Warner hospital.

RATION BOARDS WILL RELEASE PAID WORKERS

With the curtailment of the rationing program since the end of the war, the services of three of the paid employees in the War Price and Rationing board offices here and in New Oxford are being terminated October 1.

One employee is being dropped from the staff of five at the Gettysburg office and two from the five at the New Oxford ration headquarters, it was disclosed today. Ray M. Hoffman, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board, said that as the volume of work decreased the staff will be further reduced here.

Both offices at one time employed a peak staff of seven members in each office.

The formal announcement concerning the staff reductions said the move comes "as a result of a decrease in the workload brought about by the abolition of the rationing of gasoline, fuel oil, processed foods and oil stoves."

30-Day Notices

Those affected by the reduction already have been notified, in accordance with Civil Service procedure, so that they have 30 days in which to seek other employment, it was announced.

"It has been necessary to reorganize the local board's operation to take care of the remaining rationing programs and to tackle the important and difficult job of price control," Chairman Hoffman pointed out. "A sufficient number of employees must be retained to carry on this work under the direction of the volunteer members of the board. Volunteer members of the local board have been asked to stay on the job as their services will be sorely needed especially in the fight against inflation."

Both of the county ration board staffs went on a new 40-hour work week schedule this week. The offices here and at New Oxford will be closed Saturdays and will work from 8 to 5 daily with the offices being open to the public from 9 to 3 on those days. The offices will observe national holidays.

WAINWRIGHT IS HERO MUCH TO HIS SURPRISE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign News Analyst)

Uncle Sam's Lt. General Jonathan M. Wainwright, who is now enroute to Japan after his release from a Jap prison camp in Manchuria where he has been buried alive since his surrender of the American force at Corregidor, has become overnight one of the leading personalities in the great drama which is unfolding in Tokyo bay.

All this is quite unwitting on Wainwright's part. On the contrary it's the last thing he would have expected. Throughout his terrible years of imprisonment he has been tortured with the nightmare of his surrender. He thought he must be in disgrace with the folk back home.

Even now he can hardly understand his elevation to fame. You get that from his humble statements—but more strikingly from the years of hell that show in the eyes of the radioed photo which was taken on his release. That picture haunts one, for it tells the story of a man who thought he had failed in his great stewardship. Read his statement to the press:

Humble Officer
"I have had very little direct contact with my country or official agencies thereof or even with my family for over three years, but such contacts here and there as I have had have caused me to believe that the administration, the War Department and the American people have accepted my dire disaster with forbearance and generosity which perhaps are unique in the experience of a defeated commander."

Uncle Sam says "well done" to a gallant man who will go down in history as having contributed much to the Allied cause.

P. S.—Wainwright was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross in Chungking yesterday for extraordinary heroism in action in the Philippines in 1942.

veteran and the POS of A band of Hanover then played "The Caissons Go Rolling Along." Commander Reul Schwartz of the John Ocker post, American Legion, Littlestown, was introduced as a World War I veteran after which the Myers band of Westminster played "Over There." John Blum, who was wounded in World War II, was introduced as a veteran of that war following which the Littlestown high school band played a medley of current war tunes.

534 On Honor Roll
It was revealed that there are 534 names on the Littlestown roll of honor, including 12 gold stars.

Following a minute of silent tribute to the dead of all wars taps was played by Rudolph Garland, The pledge of allegiance to the flag followed after which the entire crowd sang one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner," accompaniment for which was played by the Knights of Pythias band.

The American Legion drum and bugle corps of Hanover then formed a color guard for the placing of a basket of flowers beneath the roll of honor which concluded the program.

Congregations Will Join For Fellowship

The two congregations of the Arendtsville charge of the Reformed church, Zion, Arendtsville, and Trinity-Benders, Biglerville, will observe a day of fellowship Sunday, September 9. D., professor of New Testament at the Lancaster seminary, delivering the sermon.

Following the service the families of the two congregations with their friends will have a fellowship dinner at the Arendtsville park. Each family is to prepare its own food and bring it with them to the park. The day will close with a fellowship sing in the band pavilion of the park. It is planned to have the day of fellowship annually with the congregations of the charge alternatingly acting as host. It will be held rain or shine and friends of either of the two congregations are invited to attend.

inevitable dark glasses and smoking a long stemmed pipe, was accompanied by his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland.

Other ranking officers flying into Atsugi included Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, whose Eighth army will occupy the Tokyo area; General Spaatz, commander of the U. S. Army Strategic Air forces whose Superforts helped bring the Mikado to his knees; Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding the Far East forces, and Lt. Gen. Eunis C. Whitehead, commander of the Fifth Air force.

"The Pay-off"

"From Melbourne to Tokyo was a long road," MacArthur said before leaving for Yokohama to set up his headquarters. "It has been a long hard road. But this looks like the pay-off."

The surrender plans are going splendidly and completely according to prearrangement. x x x

"The Japs seem to be offering us complete good faith and there is every hope for success in the capitulation and that it will continue without friction and without unnecessary bloodshed."

Admiral Nimitz, who watched the landings in Tokyo bay from his flagship South Dakota, also noted the peacefulness of the occupation. "I think," he said, "it was because of the emperor."

First seaborne units to land were men of the Second battalion of the Fourth regiment of the Sixth Marine division. Spearheading the Naval occupation by 10,650 men, they hit the beach at Cape Futtsu, a narrow strait from the Yokosuka Naval base, at 5:58 a. m. (4:58 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern War Time.)

Yokosuka Surrenders

They quickly made sure that all of Futtsu's big guns had been breeched and offered no hazard to Allied warships lying offshore, including Admiral Halsey's flagship, the battleship Missouri aboard which surrender documents will be signed Sunday.

British ships sent 450 Marines and Jackstars to accomplish the same task on two tiny Guardian islands.

Main tank-equipped Marine forces quickly moved into the naval base, led by Marine Brig. Gen. William Clements. The American flag was run up over the base at 6:36 a. m. (5:36 p. m. Wednesday, Eastern War Time.)

In a brief ten minute ceremony, Admiral Carney, Halsey's chief of staff and head of the Third fleet "Dirty truck department," accepted the surrender of Yokosuka at 11:12 a. m. (10:12 p. m. yesterday, Eastern War Time.)

While on Attu Chaplain Lee was widely reported in the newspapers to have conducted the "last Easter service held anywhere in the world in 1944," the explanation being that the International Date Line cuts immediately west of this point of land, beyond which "it has been Monday all day."

NO NEED FOR EXTRA SESSION

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Nothing is in sight now in Pennsylvania's reconversion, Governor Martin says, that will require a special session of the Legislature.

"Reconversion is a matter for the American people," the governor told his press conference Tuesday. "The thing that employs people is successful business. All government can do is take off restrictions."

Asked specifically by a reporter if there are any restrictions in Pennsylvania that would require action by the Assembly, the governor replied:

"Not a thing. All that was looked after at the regular session and they did a very good job."

Martin said it would be "presumption" on his part to call a special session on Fair Employment Practice legislation. Bills to prohibit discrimination in employment because of race, color or creed were thoroughly aired at the 1945 regular session, he said, without any action being taken.

Lawn Mowers—
Prewar Versus Postwar

Will Curry isn't falling for those pictures of a postwar life of ease. He was sweating over his lawn mower the other day, when somebody shows him pictures of a mower that runs under its own power.

"Shucks," says Will, "I like a lawn mower that gives you some backtalk and exercise. It gets the old blood circulating and works up a wonderful thirst. Then, Will adds with zest, "there's nothing in the whole world that tastes as good as a cheerful glass of beer!"

Outdoor work—work you do with your hands and your back—ought to be part of everybody's post-war plans. And on a hot day, as Will says, there's always that sparkling glass of beer as a reward!

OPA CONTROLS PRICE ON EIGHT MILLION ITEMS

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—OPA Boss Chester Bowles says his agency has about 8 million price ceilings on things—goods and services—in this country.

That may give an idea of how complex price control is. Those ceilings were set up in wartime to keep living costs down. Many may have to stay on for some time to come.

They'll be taken off when goods are plentiful and storekeepers—again in competition with one another—will begin to cut their own prices to get business.

Generally, OPA is trying to hold prices now to what they were—or about what they were—in 1942.

Complex Problem
It's impossible because of the tremendous size of the field under price control to go into many details here. But here is a sample of how complex it is in just one case.

OPA tries to control prices on most things you buy from their raw state until they are finished and sold to you in a store.

We can take cotton used in a dress as an example.

When cotton is spun into yarn at a mill, the spinner has to sell it at a ceiling price to the weaver who turns the yarn into cloth.

There's a ceiling on the cloth when the weaver sells it to a finisher who may put stripes on it, bleach it, or add some other touches to the cloth.

There's a ceiling on the finished goods when it's sold to a dress manufacturer.

Over-all Ceilings
There's a ceiling on the dress when it's sold to a wholesaler. There's a ceiling on what the wholesaler can charge when he sells it to a storekeeper.

And there's a ceiling on the dress which the storekeeper sells to you. As explained, OPA tries to hold that dress to about the price you would have paid for the same kind of dress in 1942.

In spite of all the efforts by OPA, the cost of clothing has advanced more than any other item that goes into what the government calls the cost of living.

Cost of clothing has advanced more than 45 per cent since war broke out in Europe in 1939. It has increased more than 19 per cent since OPA slapped on its price controls in May, 1942.

Pearl Harbor

most codes and ciphers and burn secret documents.

9. Apparently the United States had cracked a Japanese code, for Stimson said the War department received information on December 6 on what Japan's reply to American settlement overtures would be and that the answer indicated an immediate severance of diplomatic relations.

Message Too Late
Marshall did not receive word of this until the following morning. Then he messaged Short by commercial radio saying the Japanese were presenting what amounted to an ultimatum at 1 p. m. Eastern War Time.

The message reached Honolulu 22 minutes before the attack on Pearl Harbor began, but it wasn't decoded and delivered to the adjutant general until 7 hours and 3 minutes after the fighting started.

10. The Japanese began training for the strike in July or August in their home waters. They used six carriers, two fast battleships, two heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, a destroyer division and some submarines.

The task force assembled at Takanu bay at Etorofu island in north Japan and sailed November 27 or 28, taking a northerly route south of the Aleutians with orders to destroy even Japanese ships that sighted the fleet.

Launched 300 Planes
It turned south toward Oahu and launched some 300 of its approximately 424 planes from 300 to 250 miles out.

11. The intelligence officer of the Pacific fleet declared later that had American forces intercepted he thought they would have "taken the licking of their life."

This is what the Army and Navy report had to say about some top figures:

Marshall—the Army board said he failed to (1) keep Short "fully advised of the growing tenseness of the Japanese situation," (2) to "send additional instructions when it appeared Short had not adequately alerted" his command for war, (3) to get information to Short on December 6 and 7 indicating an "almost immediate" break with Japan, and (4) to determine the readiness of the Hawaiian command despite the threat of war.

Stimson called the charges "entirely unjustified" and Mr. Truman backed him up.

Asked For Truce
Hull—the Army board said the former Secretary of State handed the Japanese what they regarded as an ultimatum at a time when the Army and Navy

State Miners Set New Safety Record

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania's coal mines, despite wartime handicaps and high pressure to get out the coal, have made new all-time safety records, Mines Secretary Richard Maize said Wednesday.

"During the year 1944," declared Maize, "the Department of Mines, miners and operators established a record from a fatality point of view in both the anthracite and bituminous regions never before achieved in the history of mining in Pennsylvania. And that record has been surpassed in the first seven months of this year."

Maize said the bituminous industry set an accident record in 1944 that was 13 per cent better than any heretofore while the anthracite region bettered its previous fatal accident record by 21 per cent.

"In the first seven months of 1945," he added, "409,895 tons of coal were mined per fatal accident in the anthracite region against 370,100 tons of the corresponding period of 1944 and 853,900 tons of bituminous were mined per fatal accident in 1945 against 743,500 tons per death up to August 1, 1944."

wanted more time to prepare for war and had suggested a three-months truce in the Pacific.

Kimmel and Stark—the Navy board was "of the opinion that no offenses have been committed nor serious blame incurred on the part of any person or persons in the naval service." It gave Kimmel pretty much a clean bill of health but said Stark "failed to display sound judgment" in not sending important information to Kimmel.

Both Admiral King and Secretary Forrestal, taking numerous exceptions to findings of the board, said Kimmel and Stark failed to demonstrate "the superior judgment necessary for exercising command commensurate with their rank and assigned duties." Forrestal directed that neither—each has retired—should ever hold any position with the Navy requiring the use of superior judgment.

Short And Gerow
Maj. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, former chief of the War Department's war plans division—the Army board said he failed to send Short adequate information and clear directives to be on the alert.

Short—the same board declared he failed to place his command in a state of readiness for war in the face of a war warning when the information he had, though incomplete and confusing, was sufficient to warn him of tense relations and that "hostilities might be expected momentarily."

Short, who was relieved of his command shortly after Pearl Harbor, as was Kimmel, said in a statement at Dallas that "my conscience is clear." He said the board's report showed there was available to Washington authorities critical information not disclosed to him but vital to his decision and that he acted "in accordance with the information which was available to me at that time."

Despite his long imprisonment

WAINWRIGHT IS HAPPY TO SEE YANKEE FRIENDS

(Editor's Note: Dean Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent who greeted Lt. Gen. Wainwright at Manila today, last saw the hero of Corregidor just before that desperately-defended American stronghold fell to the Japanese. Schedler was the last American newsman to leave Bataan.)

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Manila, Aug. 30 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, pale from his years in enemy prison camps, stepped from his plane today en route from Chungking to Tokyo to witness Japan's surrender. He saw a Manila he "wouldn't recognize." It is so overflying with Allied military power.

Wearing three large old style stars on his shirt, Wainwright was visibly shaken by his return to the city he saw fall, across Manila bay from his last Philippines battleground.

Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, General MacArthur's intelligence officer, welcomed Wainwright on behalf of the supreme commander, and President Sergio Osmena greeted him on behalf of the Philippine commonwealth.

The ranking British officer, C. H. Gairdner, and Vice Adm. James Kauffman, American Naval officer commanding the Philippine sea frontier, represented the navy at the hero's welcome.

With Wainwright were his aides, Lt. Col. John Pugh and Maj. Thomas Dooley; his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe; and his orderly, Sgt. Herbert Carroll.

Great Transformation
Wainwright, accepting with thanks MacArthur's invitation to witness Japan's surrender aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay, had asked that his aides be permitted to accompany him.

Wainwright's first words as he greeted President Osmena—"this place has changed so I wouldn't recognize it"—summed up the vast difference in America's military might since he commanded his pitifully inadequate forces on Corregidor less than four years ago.

Little Nichols Field, on which his few scores of planes were bullet-spattered wreckage on December 10, 1941, now is a vast airfield lined with gleaming transports. It links Manila with Washington and Tokyo; and it hurled at the enemy the hundreds of bombers which helped break the backbone of imperial Japan.

Wainwright saluted the military police as he stepped from the plane. Despite their efforts to hold back the crowd, which had waited hours for his return, lines broke and he and his staff were engulfed by well-wishing officers and soldiers.

"Wonderful" he Says
"This is wonderful, to be back here standing on the same field again and see so many friends," he said, leaning slightly on a cane as he talked with the group clustered around him.

Despite his long imprisonment

Four Amendments Endorsed By Dems

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Four proposed amendments to the state constitution which will be submitted to the voters in November were assured of support by the Democratic state committee.

The amendments endorsed yesterday by the executive committee of the Democratic organization would:

1. Restrict the use of state motor funds.
2. Provide that local election boards be chosen at municipal elections for two-year terms instead of annually.

3. Make sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

4. Authorize a postwar bond issue of $50,000,000 for public works projects.

David L. Lawrence, state chairman, presided at the meeting and obtained the committee's endorsement of Andrew M. Kocurkovic as the party's candidate for the House of Representatives from Allegheny county's sixth legislative district.

since his surrender of Corregidor, and the wearing air trip from Chungking, he looked not greatly different from the Wainwright photographed during the surrender talks with Japanese General Homma in 1942.

Pugh, carrying a musette bag and Japanese water bottle over his shoulder, said "this looks so good—we were once in days gone past. We're just thrilled and shaken, that's all."

As officers hurried them into staff cars to take them to apartment. Dooley remarked that "after what we've been used to, a tent would look good."

Get the Best
The Wainwright party will be given anything it desires, on the orders of General MacArthur, according to Col. Sid Huff, Salamancan, N. Y., who said the supreme commander told him "give them the best we have."

Of the group of officers meeting the party, Willoughby, Huff, and Col. Andres Soriano were the only members of the MacArthur staff who had also been on Corregidor and Bataan when Wainwright was there.

The majority of the staff officers who know Wainwright already has left for Japan. They soon will be reunited there—and under different circumstances than last time, the Wainwright party acknowledges with obvious emotion.

MARINES ITCH TO HIT JAPAN

By HAL BOYLE
With U. S. Amphibious Force Off Japan, Aug. 23 (Delayed) (AP)—This is one of the weirdest voyages in history—circling off the Japanese coast and waiting for the signal hour to swarm ashore and occupy the keystone of Hirohito's blasted empire.

Our attack transport, loaded with dungaree-clad Marines, is in the middle of one of the mightiest fleets ever assembled. From our decks we can count half a hundred or more transports, destroyers, cruisers or battleships at any time. Beyond the horizon lie hundreds more.

Fleet commanders are taking no chances of a repetition of the "day of infamy"—Pearl Harbor—that launched us into the war.

Cover of Planes
All day, carrier based planes circle protectively in the skies. They come in waves of 20 to 30 like endless flights of blue grey geese. Usually, each flight is trailed by some late starting Donald Duck trying to catch up.

There is something about this endless parade of might through cloud streaked skies and slow, hammering seas that catches at your throat. It is America on victory parade. It is the thousands who survived moving in majesty to claim the triumph for all the thousands who died on lonely atolls or were lost in swirling waters in struggle-filled days when a world at peace seemed a forlorn delusion. The Marines are getting tense; they want to walk or fight their way ashore immediately.

"Until the Marines land on Japan this war isn't over, no matter what they say in Washington or Tokyo," said one veteran.

TIMELY CALL
Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Cecilia Montgomery, a cashier at a currency exchange, was telephoning when a gunman entered and pointed a revolver at her.

She ducked below the counter, pulling the telephone with her. Then she screamed to the person on the other end of the wire: "I'm being held up!" The would-be-robbler fled.

About 17,000,000 occupied dwelling units in the United States, 46 per cent of the total, had central heating equipment in 1944.

DRUGGIST'S BOY
When first I took employment from a druggist years ago,
He led me to the candy case, its contents sweet to show,
He pointed out the nougat bars and all the chocolate drops
And said: "The watering mouth for these nobody ever stops.
Enjoy, my boy, these various sweets as freely as you will
And do not overlook a thing until you've had your fill."

The druggist was a friendly man and also very wise.
He knew a small boy's stomach lacks the measure of his eyes.
He also knew that lads like me are sure that they can take
The tons and tons of chocolate drops the candy-makers make.
"Dip in, my boy, when passing by!" the druggist said to me.
"I keep the candy here to sell, but you may have it free."

I filled myself that happy week on fancy nougat bars
And chocolate wrapped in paper gold and lemon drops in ars.
The smiling druggist spoke no word of warning or rebuff.
He merely waited till I said I thought I'd had enough.
Then henceforth I was safe to trust alone within the shop,
I'd stand right by that candy case and never touch a drop.

Today's Talk

ARTIST OF EARTH AND SKY
To God may be traced every great and noble attribute in this world. He is not only the Ruler Supreme, but the perfect Artist. Day after day these summer months I watched the masterpieces that He has painted before my eyes against the blue sky above.

Great strokes of beauty and of formations that no earthly artist has ever been able to adequately produce. And these masterpieces are constantly being removed and new ones put in their place. Mammoth banks of clustered clouds that look like mountains of snow. Then long streaks of grey, tinted pastels, and creeping tapestries of foamy vapor. Never is such a sky uninteresting.

And what spectacles of artistry to the morning sunrise! Sending their golden and roseate glows far in advance of that great ball of fire. Shimmering sheets of color, touching treetops and melting through the branches, like a great fire upon parade. Noiselessly during all the day do these sights of God's handiwork appear before mortal eye. And how few there are who note in them the silent voice of the Artist of Earth and Sky!

All over the surface of the earth, as well, does this Artist go about his work, in shrub, flower and tree. Each tiny flower a masterpiece, and every leaf a perfect expression of planned beauty. Note any rock casually picked from the ground. What elements of wonder, mystery, and beauty in each! And down deep in the earth are to be found the matchless treasures in stones that man's skill polishes into rare and precious examples of this same Artist who put them there for man's joy and delight.

Why was that exquisite five-point star put into the sapphire that I wear upon the small finger of my hand? Not through any desire for show do I wear it, but to keep reminding me of this over-all Artist who plants himself into every creation, no matter how insignificant or important. Why, do you suppose, that He went to such pains as to form the matchless designs of the snowflake, when for it no permanence save its memory remains?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject:

MORE CHEESE, MEAT, BUTTER FOR CIVILIANS

(By The Associated Press)
Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—The climb toward better living got a boost today. OPA, starting Sunday, is handing out more meat, more cheese, more butter.

But the War Manpower Commission said, in a more sobering announcement, that 2,000,000 war workers have lost their jobs since Japan's fall. Some, however, have been rehired already.

Otherwise the news—from industry and government alike—was good. It ran like this:

1. Within six months, travel by ship across the ocean may be fairly easy. Within a year, regular world cruises.

2. Farmers will give industry a rich market. Surveys show one in four wants a tractor or other machine, one in five a car or truck.

Courtesy Is Returning
3. Courtesy behind the counter is coming back, say retailers—along with deliveries, easier credit and pre-war store services.

Canned milk becomes ration-free on Sunday.

And red points will buy about 28 per cent more meat, 50 per cent more cheese, 25 per cent more butter and margarine, fats and oils were unchanged.

Price Boss Chester Bowles said bigger allotments for civilians and better spreading of supplies over the country made possible the point-value reductions. But he couldn't guess when meat rationing would end.

Beef steaks and roasts went down 2 to 3 points a pound, hamburger and bacon 2 points, lamb and veal 1 to 3 points, and pork chops, steaks and roasts 1 to 2 points.

The only jarring ration note: OPA indicated tires might be rationed longer than most people think.

road on Sunday and 107 cars in 4 hours stopped to purchase some of the juicy fruit.

There was no picking or sale of peaches on Sunday, Mr. Rice said.

Personal: Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Valentine, Springs avenue, have returned from a month's motor trip through the New England states.

The Misses Dorothy Wright and Grace Trimmer are spending several weeks with friends and relatives in Charles Town, West Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Weaver entertained at dinner Wednesday night at their home on Broadway in honor of Miss Madlyn Roth, who will leave the coming week for Millville, New Jersey, and Horace and Brady Armor, who will go to Newburg, New York.

Mrs. Laura V. Shank, of Waynesboro, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Warren Gilbert, York street.

H. Willard Flemming has gone to Wellsboro, where he has accepted a position as instructor in the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Stallsmith left for Lancaster, where Mr. Stallsmith has been elected teacher of chemistry in the boys' high school.

Notes on Making Sauerkraut

Sauerkraut is a healthful food and should be eaten every month in the year and particularly from late fall until spring brings back fresh leafy vegetables. Too, it is economical in the family menu, and even under abnormal conditions every household should manufacture a liberal supply for winter. It is by far the easiest way to store the late cabbage crop.

High quality kraut with good flavor cannot be made from low grade cabbage. One of the basic secrets of kraut making is to harvest cabbage fresh from the field and shred the heads after a brief storage in a warm room to bring the heads to a temperature that will promote rapid fermentation after shredding. Cabbage stored for many days and often weeks in wholesale and retail markets is responsible for most unedible kraut. Old kraut makers insist on the rule—48 hours from field to kraut container.

Cabbage heads accumulate considerable dust and other dirt within their outer leaf folds. Heads should be washed by directing a strong spray of water against the bottoms, not the tops, of the heads.

Cabbage grows from the center, not by additions of leaf layers on the outside. Thus, there is little or no danger from poisons applied to control early insect pests. Of course, the extreme outer leaves should be trimmed off and discarded. But on this point a vital fact deserves frequent emphasis. It is this: Nature stores her most precious nutrients, vitamins and minerals in the outer leaves where the tissues are enriched by direct contact with the sun's rays. No more of these should be thrown away than absolutely necessary. And this important truth should be remembered when housewives are preparing cabbage to cook or to make into raw salads.

"About the thickness of a dime" is the rule old kraut makers quote on the subject of shredding. Finer cutting makes soft kraut; coarser results in off-coloring and uneven fermentation.

Use medium fine salt at the rate of 2 1/2 pounds to 100 pounds of shredded cabbage. To determine the rate, weigh cabbage after heads are trimmed for shredding and then apply proportionate amounts of salt after shredding every 5 to 8 heads.

Perhaps the most common mistake is made by tamping the cabbage with a mallet or other heavy object. Avoid this danger; it bruises the cabbage and causes soft, unusable kraut. Merely press the shredded cabbage down with the open hands after each application of salt.

Fermentation is the chemical change through which cabbage passes in turning into kraut. Cabbage heads should be relatively warm (not cold) when shredded and then the container should be placed at once in a room where the temperature remains uniformly near a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees until fermenting ceases.

Kraut of high quality is white and crisp. Steps to this desirable end are quite simple, as suggested above, and in general consist of: (1) Use solid heads of the late cabbage crop; (2) Practice strict cleanliness throughout the manufacturing operation; (3) Guard kraut from fluctuating temperatures during the fermentation period; and (4) Store kraut in a medium cool and dark room where the temperature is uniform until the last of the supply is consumed.

a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees until fermenting ceases.

Kraut of high quality is white and crisp. Steps to this desirable end are quite simple, as suggested above, and in general consist of: (1) Use solid heads of the late cabbage crop; (2) Practice strict cleanliness throughout the manufacturing operation; (3) Guard kraut from fluctuating temperatures during the fermentation period; and (4) Store kraut in a medium cool and dark room where the temperature is uniform until the last of the supply is consumed.

Use medium fine salt at the rate of 2 1/2 pounds to 100 pounds of shredded cabbage. To determine the rate, weigh cabbage after heads are trimmed for shredding and then apply proportionate amounts of salt after shredding every 5 to 8 heads.

Perhaps the most common mistake is made by tamping the cabbage with a mallet or other heavy object. Avoid this danger; it bruises the cabbage and causes soft, unusable kraut. Merely press the shredded cabbage down with the open hands after each application of salt.

Fermentation is the chemical change through which cabbage passes in turning into kraut. Cabbage heads should be relatively warm (not cold) when shredded and then the container should be placed at once in a room where the temperature remains uniformly near

TWO CHARGED WITH MURDER

Erie, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—An indictment charging Robert W. Pepperman, 29, and John D. West, 27, of Williamsport, Pa., with murder in the fatal beating of Joseph B. Campbell, 73, retired manufacturer, was returned yesterday by an Erie county grand jury.

District Attorney Burton R. Laub said he would ask the death penalty.

The defendants, who were arrested in Williamsport Aug. 19, pleaded innocent when they were arraigned last Thursday, declaring they "had no intention of murder." Their attorney, Elmer D. Loose, said he would not know until further discussion with his clients whether they

Truman Asks $42 Billion Lend-Lease Written-Off

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—President Truman notified congress today that the more than $42,000,000,000 this country spent on lend-lease aid to its allies should, in the main, be written off the books.

The reason—made clear in a lengthy report Mr. Truman sent to Capitol Hill—is that the administration believes the United States received three things more important than a dollar basis settlement. They are:

1. Victory over Germany and Japan.
2. More than $5,600,000,000 through last March in reverse lend-lease.
3. A commitment from all nations receiving lend-lease to join in organizing post-war international trade on the basis of lowering barriers.

In a letter accompanying the report, Mr. Truman told the lawmakers:

Realized Objective

"With the defeat of the Axis powers, whose ruthless plan for world conquest and enslavement came so close to succeeding, the United States has realized the major objective for which lend-lease aid has been extended."

The President has ordered lend-lease operations halted, effective V-J day, and already has cut off requisitions for supplies which formerly would have been ordered under the mutual aid program.

Meanwhile, arrangements are being worked out with lend-lease countries to switch their commerce over to a peacetime basis. American officials will begin conversations with a British delegation next week for some sort of credit substitute.

Summing up the gigantic program, Mr. Truman said: "Each of our principal fighting partners has contributed to the pool of armed might in accordance with its full abilities and capacities."

Now, he added, the lend-lease arrangements are being wound up in an "expedient and orderly manner, subject to military needs for the movement of troops or for occupation purposes."

All Used Up

The report itself was even more specific on the question of final settlement.

"The overwhelming portion of lend-lease aid which now totals over $42,000,000,000," it said, "has been directly consumed by our Allies in the war."

It added that if so huge a debt were to be added to the enormous financial obligations already incurred by foreign governments "it would have a disastrous effect upon our trade with the United Nations and hence among production and employment at home."

Today's report showed that to last July 1 total lend-lease amounted to $42,020,779,000.

In addition lend-lease goods amounting to $788,603,000 was assigned to commanding generals in the field. Thus the real total is somewhere near $43,000,000,000. This includes $20,691,000,000 worth of straight munitions shipments. The rest either was for munitions manufacture or for war-supporting civilian use, such as food.

Reds Get Share

The cost of exports went to the United Kingdom. These, exclusive of services, were valued at approximately $13,500,000,000. Russia was the next heaviest recipient with $9,000,000,000.

Of Russia the report said: "Many of the munitions which we exported under lend-lease to the USSR for the war against Germany were used by the Soviet armies in the war against Japan. xxx "When V-E day was proclaimed shipments of lend-lease supplies to European Russia, with certain minor exceptions, ended. Lend-lease aid to the Soviet far east was continued."

STATE SURVEY SEEKING JOBS FOR 145,000

(By The Associated Press)
With an estimated 145,000 Pennsylvanians laid off since Japan's surrender, an intensive drive now is in progress to line up employment opportunities for workers made jobless in the Keystone state's huge changeover from war to peace.

All offices of the war manpower commission and the United States employment service are surveying the employment situation and collecting information. They plan to present their data to displaced war workers and returned war veterans.

Meanwhile, the giant wheels of reconversion ground on. Steel industries in Pittsburgh began to perk up. Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation announced its new 106-oven by-product coke plant, constructed at the Allegheny works at a cost of $7,500,000 would begin operation within the next two months, providing employment for several hundred men.

To Employ 2,300
Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation offered jobs to 2,300 new workers at its mills in the Pittsburgh area.

Some 4,000 additional jobs will be available in the textile manufacturing industry in the Philadelphia area in three months, predicted Joseph Hueter, manager of the textile workers joint board (CIO).

Reconversion of agriculture throughout the state will involve "mostly reconstruction to meet keener competition and get back to quality production," State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst said at Centre Hall today.

War price and rationing boards in the Philadelphia district will resume a 40-hour week with no Saturday hours for OPA workers.

It was a gradual road—this road to finding new work—but the dismissed workers were finding the state government, unions and employers scouring all possibilities for upping their employment quotas.

There is nothing in sight, said Governor Edward Martin, that will require a special session of the legislature to deal with the problems of reconversion.

"Reconversion," he said, "is a matter for the American people."

STATE STARTS DRIVE TO HELP RECONVERSION

John H. Basehore, chairman of the Adams County Republican Committee, represented the county at the meeting.

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—A program of self-appraisal by Pennsylvania communities to determine where they stand with regard to reconversion, will be one of the suggestions for 67 county "pick-and-shovel" men to follow up with civic groups, Floyd Chalfant, state Secretary of Commerce, said Wednesday.

He said the aim of the mobilization of these state employees and civic-industrial leaders for the commonwealth's fight to keep industries and attract new ones is to stir up community thought and action.

Governor Martin and Chalfant called in a representative from each county Monday to establish liaison between the state and veterans, labor, luncheon, industrial, farm and other semi-civic groups, in the effort to retain the commonwealth's high rank among industrial states.

Industrial Fight
Martin told the group "the biggest industrial fight in the history of the world is now on," with "a group which wants to take the industries of the northeastern states to the west and the south."

The county representatives, called by Martin "the front line troops in the battle of reconversion," were instructed their job is to sell themselves and all other Pennsylvanians on the state's industrial, educational, recreational and other advantages.

A follow-up letter to go out to them soon will outline specific methods of conducting the drive, Chalfant said. One of the first things he suggested was to organize the leaders in each community to act on retention or reconversion of existing industries and attract new ones.

Another, he said, was to develop "community appraisals."

"Until each town knows what it has, and what it can do, there's no sense in trying to 'sell' itself," Chalfant explained. He said his department can help communities do this, through the newly-appointed county liaison men.

HINTS WAGNER FOR GOVERNOR

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—The 1946 campaign for governor was injected into a controversy today between Auditor General G. Harold Wagner and Chairman Frederick T. Gelder, of the liquor control board, over the liquor board's purchasing policies.

Wagner, who has been sharply critical of the board for several weeks, said in a statement late yesterday that the board was stocked with enough of certain brands of wine to last for 26 years at the present rate of sales.

Charging "incompetence and lack of foresight," Wagner said the board was "desperately trying to move a huge stockpile of nearly unsalable goods before terminating whisky rationing."

Gelder, informed of Wagner's statement, commented that the auditor general "doesn't seem to be sticking to the facts."

"Apparently he is trying to stir up a storm of publicity with an eye on running for governor," Gelder said.

Last week the liquor board announced that whisky rationing would continue in the commonwealth, and added it was "due to an unwarranted delay in the approval of whisky orders by the auditor general, and to labor and transportation difficulties."

FORESEES FOOD PRICE INCREASE

Centre Hall, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania agriculture's reconversion will involve "mostly reconstruction to meet keener competition and get back to quality production," Miles Horst, state Secretary of Agriculture, asserted today.

The Keystone state farmer's immediate concern, he said in a speech prepared for the Centre County Grange fair and encampment, is the approaching withdrawal of government financial support for such foods as milk, butter and bread. When that comes, Horst explained, prices to consumers will go up.

Describing livestock and livestock products as "the foundation of Penna. agriculture," Horst said milk production so far this year is 19 per cent above the 1935-39 average and "heading for an all-time record." Egg production is up 24 per cent; chickens raised on farms, 30 per cent, and turkeys 164 per cent, he continued.

The state's 5,937,000 acreage in principal field crops is the highest since 1938 but three per cent under the average for the five pre-war years, Horst stated.

Less sugar for you

Sugar is really scarce. There has been greatly reduced production of raw cane sugar at the main source of supply—Cuba—due to severe drought. Also the requirements of our Government for our armed forces and for feeding civilians abroad continue heavy. As a result, there is less sugar than usual for us here at home.

Therefore, till more sugar is available, the thing to do is to use your sugar stamps wisely and make a little do a lot.

Japan Announces Elections This Year

(By The Associated Press)
Japan will hold a general national election soon, probably before Jan. 1, a Domei news dispatch reported Wednesday. The last general election choosing present members of Japan's House of Representatives took place April 30, 1942.

Home ministry authorities pointed to technical difficulties: lists of eligible voters were burned by American bombings in many cities; and there was "widespread shifting of population. Lower house sources, however, Domei said, held that body responsible for the outcome of the war and seek a new start by a general election.

The cabinet meanwhile relaxed somewhat the nation's wartime restrictions on political activity and on freedom of the press.

Restrictions will remain, however,

GAS TRUCK UPSETS

New Brighton, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—A heavily-loaded gasoline truck turned completely over at Third avenue and Third Street here yesterday and the cab was crushed, but driver Fred D. Wright of R. D. 2, Titusville, stepped out uninjured.

Domei said, where activities are "likely to compromise the national policy" or "threaten to disturb national unity."

YOUTH ADMITS SETTING FIRES

Smethport, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Apprehended by state police after months of arduous investigation a 12-year-old Port Allegany boy was quoted by police today as saying that he set fires for the thrill of seeing flames and hearing fire sirens scream.

He was held for a juvenile court hearing before Judge Charles G. Hubbard in connection with fires causing $300,000 to $400,000 damage at Port Allegany.

The investigation was started after a series of fires occurring since last fall. McKean County detective Merle Dickinson said the boy mentioned four fires in his statement. The most serious were those at the American Extract Company plant, $250,000 damage, and the Pierce Glass Company plant, $50,000 damage.

Dickinson said the boy, son of a glass worker, told of starting one fire like this:

A truck loaded with straw for packing drove up to the storage shed of the American Extract Company. Waiting until the driver left, the boy pulled out a box of matches and ignited the straw, then watched as it cracked in fierce, swift heat until firemen arrived and extinguished the flames.

He said the boy is "nice looking," appeared to be an ordinary student and "comes from a nice family."

The truck, owned by William F. Crockett, of Warren, was enroute to Beaverfalls when the accident occurred.

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By HAL BOYLE
(Advance) With Halsey's Third Fleet, off Japan, (AP)—A navy pharmacist, aboard this big attack transport steaming toward a landing on the land of the rising sun, has solved the problem of how to cure a common head cold—but has little faith that mankind ever will adopt his remedy.
I told the pharmacist's mate, Lee Chase, Edmeston, N. Y., that I had picked up "the Pacific sniffles" and he said:
"I know the only way to cure it. You have to do four things: quit drinking, quit smoking, quit thinking about women, and go to bed at dark every night."
"But you'll never cure it. I can't get people to do all four of those things. I've had a cold out here for a year myself."
Despite his pessimistic outlook on human frailty, Chase looked tan and fit from his long sojourn with the Pacific sun. He spoke of two brothers in the service.
"My brother is overseas, too," he grinned. "He is in Kentucky."

Most marines were highly hopeful that the trip to Japan would be highly rewarding in souvenirs. Most of them desired Japanese pistols, samurai swords and Nipponese invasion money.
"I don't want any of that junk," said Yeoman 2/C E. L. Woods, Long Beach, Calif.
"I want one of those geisha girls—well nourished and with lots of Fahrenheit."

Antiaircraft gunners notoriously have trouble drawing beads on fast flying enemy aircraft. Usually, they fail to aim far enough ahead of their target and their streams of bullets trail the plane as it speeds across the horizon.
The gunnery officer aboard this transport sought to correct that tendency by painting this sign on the splinter shield around each gun: "For God's sake, lead 'em."

Rural tenancy declined 1,500,000 or 22 per cent between 1940 and 1944. Rural home ownership in the same period gained by 866,000.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

Steve Gerkin, castoff hurler from the Philadelphia Athletics, flipped a two-hitter last night to lead the Lancaster Red Roses to an important 8-0 whitewash of the Wilmington Blue Rocks.

The loss shoved the Rocks three games behind the Red Roses in the sizzling Interstate league flag chase. Wilmington has 13 games remaining and Lancaster 14.

Meanwhile the battle for the number four spot continued unabated. Trenton's Spartans hung a double defeat on the Hagerstown Owls 6-4 and 5-4, reversing Tuesday night's procedure, and moved back into a deadlock for fourth place.

York's White Roses, who suddenly seem to have found themselves, won their second straight from Allentown 3-1.

Gerkin's victory was his fourth since joining the Red Roses earlier this month. He had a no-hitter until the seventh inning when Bill Narlesky reached him for a single. Morris Tortorelli got the Rocks' only other safety, a single in the ninth.

BROWNS BEAT DETROIT AND SENATORS CUT

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Benton's form reversal has Detroit fans guessing today with the early-season sensation running a three-game losing streak and the Tigers' lead sliced to a single length.

The ex-sailor who started the 1945 campaign with five successive victories hasn't been pitching bad ball but he hasn't won since Aug. 6 and hasn't finished any of his last five starting jobs.

The Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Washington knocked him off the hill, the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland shaded him after he had given way to a relief artist and last night the St. Louis Browns beat him, 5-4.

Benton's defeat by the Browns came at the hands of Bob Muncie who is just about the hottest thing in the league at the moment. His sore arm almost cost St. Louis the pennant last summer and he hasn't pitched an away from home game this season because of his job in a war plant but Muncie has the best win record (10-2) in either league.

Senators Split

Washington fumbled another chance to close in on the Tigers when they split a two-night double-header with Philadelphia, taking the first, 3-2, with the help of a double error by catcher Grege George but bowing in the finale, 2-1.

Lefty Vic Johnson chilled New York's chances of moving ahead with a 1-0 job on behalf of Boston. A Cleveland at Chicago tilt was postponed because of wet grounds.

Cincinnati's tattered Reds, who had won only four of their last 25 before St. Louis came to town, continued to blast the Cardinals' hopes of repeating by making it two in a row, 3-1.

Chicago stretched its National league advantage to 4½ games by knocking off Pittsburgh, 2-0. After Ray Prim wilted in the 9½-degree heat, Hy Vandenberg came on to complete the white wash job against Nick Strincevich.

Two unearned runs against Philly Dick Barrett enabled Brooklyn to keep its flag hopes alive with a second straight 2-1 verdict behind Curt Davis.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—Two stars of last year's all American boys baseball game, Bill Pierce and Vic Picetti, are doing quite well in class "AA" baseball and ten others signed pro contracts. . . . It will be interesting to see what becomes of the kids who starred in last Tuesday's tilt. . . . Curt Simmons, the slender Egypt, Pa., youngster who was picked as the game's standout, looked like a real ballplayer—both on his south-paw pitching and on his hitting when he really picked a 3-2 pitch for the game-deciding triple. . . . Others who impressed this observer were Ted Mace, who used to catch Dick ($15,000) Callahan in New Orleans; Bill Glane, the Detroit pitcher, and Joe Della Monica, who played for the U. of Penn this summer. . . . P.S.: Watching them come out of the Polo grounds after the game, there was no doubt that they're just a bunch of all American 16 and 17 year old boys.

PANT-ING FOR VICTORY

Larry MacPhail presented every member of the Yankees an order for a new hat as a reward for their winning two double headers from Washington over the week-end. . . . Could that be taken as a hint that the Yanks still don't suit Larry?

WHERE'S HIROHITO'S HORSE?

Race fans point out that the winners at Washington park Tuesday (with the order of races slightly altered) provided a thumbnail sketch of the Pacific war. . . . The horses were named Hurry East, Sweep In, Fighting Frank, Fighting Don, Tide Over, Peace Again and Harmony Now.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Fred Hooper's Hoop Jr., which pulled a tendon in the Preakness, will be at stud for the 1946 season. . . . The tennis experts at Forest Hills, figure Herbie Flam as the best of the new crop of players, say he makes up for his lack of size by always pulling the right stroke at the right time. But they don't believe that will be quite enough when Herbie runs into the smart big boys who'll be back in a year or so.

ALL-STARS AND PACKERS MEET THIS EVENING

By JERRY LISKA

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP)—Postwar football makes a roaring debut to night when the College All-Stars and the Green Bay Packers clash in a charity spectacle that will pack 92,000 fans into sprawling Soldier Field.

This colorful harbinger of the first peace-time season since 1941 will send the favored Packers, National Football League champions, against 65 of the best collegiate players produced in the past five years.

The Packers, spear-headed by the finest pass-snatcher in the business, 32-year-old Don Hutson, were 7 to 5 choices as they sought the seventh professional triumph in the 12-year series. The All-Stars won three games and two were tied.

Bierman Coaches Stars

An All-Star victory, however, would hardly stun the capacity crowd since the Collegians are coached by crafty Bernie Bierman, of Minnesota, whose 1936 All-Stars deadlocked the Detroit Lions, 7-7.

Long departed from their respective campuses, such stellar performers as Charles Trippi, of Georgia, Tom Harmon, of Michigan, Bob Kennedy, of Washington State, Ernie Bonelli, of Pittsburgh, and John Strzykalski, of Marquette, will carry the mail for the All-Stars.

Harmon, especially, will be a man against men in the fray. The Wolverine All-America halfback finished college in 1940 owning the Big Ten scoring record formerly held by Red Grange. Harmon enlisted shortly after the 1941 All-Star game and has been away from the gridiron since.

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES, THURSDAY, AUGUST 30, 1945

News Of Special Interest To The Residents Of Emmitsburg And Vicinity

ANTICIPATE 200
ST. JOSEPH'S

Sister Genevieve Ryan, dean of St. Joseph's college, has announced that the freshman enrollment for the coming year is most promising. The entire enrollment of the college is expected to reach the 200 mark.

There will be one more freshmen registration day, September 17, followed by two days of orientation for the newcomers. The Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes will return the evening of September 19. Upperclassmen of the student government, however, will be on hand September 18 and 19 to welcome the freshmen and help out with the two-day orientation program.

On the morning of September 20 there will be a procession of the faculty and students to the college chapel for a mass to formally open the school term.

Tear Down Buildings
The old railway station and gate-keeper house, that have been standing at the entrance to the St. Joseph's college campus for over a century, are being torn down and a new graded entrance is underway. This will put an end to one of the traditional college student practices of kicking the gate to the keeper's house on every stroll up and down the college avenue, with the idea of eventually breaking down the barrier to the outside world.

The road into the college grounds had been raised decades ago to allow freight cars to pass underneath.

The railway was used by students, visitors and Sisters of Charity who rode the "Dinghy," built by John Donahue. The railway ran between Emmitsburg (in those days, the Emmitsburg junction) and Rocky Ridge.

Light Apple Crop
Quinn Topper of the Blue Mountain orchard said in an interview that while the peach crop is exceptionally good both in quantity and quality, the apple crop will be the lightest on record. Local labor has harvested the Blue Mountain orchard peaches since Mr. Topper has been unable to get prisoner of war help since May. At that time, 12 to 18 prisoners from the Frederick camp planted trees, gathered and burned brush and chopped down old apple trees. More P. W. help has been promised Mr. Topper in mid-September for the harvesting of the apple crop.

The orchard manager remarked that while the bulk of his peaches are shipped by truck, the orchard has sold more peaches to local housewives for canning this year than ever before.

KELLY GIVEN PLAQUE

Philadelphia, Aug. 30 (AP)—It was 25 years ago today that Jack Kelly won the world's singles and doubles rowing titles in Olympic competition. Fifty members of the Vesper Boat club paid tribute to Kelly, only American world's rowing champion in history, last night by presenting him with a plaque.

The potato is the crop most generally cultivated in Alaska.

Mount Grad Is Visiting Friends

Corp. Jack Bubrick, a graduate of Mt. St. Mary's college in Emmitsburg, is visiting in Emmitsburg with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Boyle after having been discharged Monday with 131 points.

He was a gunner on a Douglas bomber and flew 109 missions from North Africa, Malta, Sicily, Italy, France and Austria. He was wounded by shrapnel and suffered a broken leg during his 31 months overseas. He has received the Purple Heart medal.

Speaking of the effect of American occupation on the peoples of North Africa and Italy, Corporal Bubrick said the standard of living of these people is "bound to go up" by reason of the important American ideas in those lands. American doughboys have been exceptionally kind to the children of these countries and in some instances built orphanages for them with their own funds.

Corporal Bubrick, a former athlete at the Mount, is seeking a position as athletic coach and teacher in a Frederick county high school.

Softball Team Is Setting Fine Mark

The Emmitsburg softball team has made quite a name for itself, winning 12 games out of 13 since it was organized in July. Eugene Myers and Thomas Sanders were the organizers and the boys elected "Gene" manager of their team.

The "Sluggers" have played two games with Taneytown, one with Cashtown, six with the Emmitsburg Boy Scouts and four with Davis' team, also a local group. The one lost game was won by the Boy Scouts.

There are three games scheduled in the near future with Harney, Fairfield and Sabillasville. The "Sluggers" have high hopes, with their splendid record, of becoming members of the Frederick County Softball league next year.

The players are: Thomas Sanders, first base; Donald Joy, second base; Donald Kessler, catcher; Harry Hahn, third base; Jack Myers, shortstop; Chet Masser, right

Chapter 20

As the days passed, Jane found that she alone was holding out. Another board meeting was scheduled, and she would have to make up her mind soon.

Mark Sheridan wired the day before the board meeting. "Read your report; what's holding you? Advise yes vote but will rely on your judgment."

Jane did not sleep that night. Instead she paced the floor of her room until it became so confining she went down through the darkened house and paced the terrace outside.

Was she being bull-headed, stubborn, suspicious? Maybe. Yet, considering what Carter had done in the past, could she risk Gram's and Sheridan's future by voting yes, for Gram too would take her word.

Evelyn lighted the small fire laid on the hearth, then hurried to the kitchen to mix a hot lemon wine while Jane sat close to the flames, thinking what a fool she was acting—for an executive.

"Here drink this," Evelyn ordered. "You've decided what you're going to do?"

"I suppose I'll have to vote for the expansion," Jane answered. "We need it so terribly, even for the work at hand. And the orders you know how our mail and wire service has grown. It breaks my heart to answer that we can't promise delivery; that we'll let them know in a few days or weeks when we know it may be months."

"But, Jane, if Mr. Carter weren't mixed up in this, if it were only a normal board with everyone pulling together honestly, you wouldn't worry about the assessments, would you?"

"No, we'd follow each step and curtain. We couldn't do that with less than a fifty-one per cent vote."

"And there isn't anyone now holding stock that you could swing to you?"

Jane had put another small log on the fire, had watched the flame catch the peeling bark and then the heart of the wood, flaring up until it turned the dark room into a golden cave.

"No," she stighed, "unless it would be the mythical man, L. Johnson—"

"Jane!"

She looked up to see Evelyn, hands to both cheeks, her eyes wide with horror.

"Ev, what on earth?"

"On earth—he isn't Jane, that's Roy. . . Jane—Roy is Leroy Johnson."

"I'd forgotten about the stock. I never really knew. Roy was working at the plant when it first opened; that made him eligible."

"Why, Jane—" She sat up. "Jane Grey, do you realize Carter had to put the sale of that stock through before I received my inheritance or he'd lose control of the stock? He'd lose even his fifty per cent control of the votes and we'd have—"

"Fifty-two," answered Jane softly.

Now you can buy shoes without shoe stamps from HAINES, THE SHOE WIZARD

Starting at Once and Running Through September 29th

When the ceiling price was put on shoes, we had a tremendous quantity of shoes that we sold for $1.98 and $2.98 and, as we have kept to the letter of the ceiling prices, the same shoes, as to quality, are worth one to two dollars a pair more. If we had been privileged to advance the prices, not a pair of these shoes would be left on our shelf.

Now the OPA has consented to allow us to sell these shoes without stamps, so here's your great opportunity to buy shoes that are worth one and two dollars a pair more and, remember, without stamps.

First, come get the shoes. Also listen to me and buy your winter supply of rubbers. We have them now and when winter comes, you will find that you will not get them.

Price Of Grapes Increased By OPA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania is one of nineteen states affected by the recently announced increase in the ceiling price of Concord grapes sold for processing.

The OPA raised the price of the fruit from $85 a ton to $127 a ton. The agency said the increase was required under the Stabilization Extension Act because the yield of Concord grapes was reduced substantially by unfavorable growing conditions.

There were just 105 sheep in Australia in 1792.

CERTAIN TOILET PREPARATIONS, JEWELRY & LUGGAGE SUBJECT TO FEDERAL TAX

IN THE HOUR OF TRIUMPH

Behind us lie 3½ years of deadly struggle in which, with God's help, we have prevailed.

So, today, we celebrate a victory.

After the celebration, what lies ahead?

For most of us, the outlook is a bright one. If we will simply use the brains, the will, the energy, the enterprise . . . the materials and resources . . . with which we won our war, we can't fail to win the peace and to make this the richest, happiest land the world has known.

For most of us, the years ahead are bright with promise. But for others of us—and, ironically enough, their part in bringing victory was a major one—the years to come must bear a different look.

In America today are hundreds of thousands of injured men. Men with neatly pinned-up sleeves and trousers. Blinded men. Men with clever iron hooks instead of hands. Worst of all, men with hurt and darkened minds.

These men need our help. Helping them will cost a great deal of money. We can help them best by buying Victory Bonds.

Far away from America today are millions of Americans. As we would be, they're on fire to get back—to their wives, to the children some of them have never seen, to their jobs.

These men need our help. Helping them will cost a great deal of money. And we can help them best by buying Victory Bonds.

This is our day of triumph. But it's theirs too—the injured men, the men who are still far away.

Let's not forget them, in our just rejoicing. And the one way we can help most to care for our wounded . . . to bring our veterans home . . . to give them a fresh start in the country they fought for . . . to care for the families of those who died before the victory was won . . . is simply this:

Buy all the Bonds you can.
Keep all the Bonds you buy.

RECONVERSION PROBLEMS FACE NEXT CONGRESS

By MAX HALL

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—Congress loomed bigger in the reconversion scene today.

Full sessions won't start for another week, but committees of lawmakers were sweating it out.

They worked hard to catch up with the vast forces of change that were turned loose two weeks ago, while they were on vacation.

And there was other news for Americans—about butter and leather, films and cameras, typewriters, home-building, Army discharges and the financial condition of industry.

This was the picture in congress: Two main proposals are being considered by committees. One is about unemployment—the other about "full employment." Both are favored by President Truman.

More For Jobbers
The unemployment bill would increase the help that states give their jobless citizens. If the bill is passed, the Federal government will shell out enough money to allow each state to pay up to $25 a week for 26 weeks. Most states pay less than that now.

The so-called "full employment bill" would do this: Every year the government would study industry's employment prospects and make recommendations for improving them. If this still seemed insufficient, the government could ask Congress to create jobs at federal expense. However, the pending bill by itself involves no federal spending.

Other developments from congress: A House committee has approved a bill to abolish the three-man surplus property board and to put one man in charge of the task of selling billions of dollars worth of unwanted government goods and property. That gives the house a chance to vote on it soon.

Now for the news outside of congress: Points For Officers
Army discharges—the Army said it soon will reduce its point system from 85 to 80 and take other steps to make it easier to get out. There will be a point system for officers, too (no details yet).

Homes—Builders are aroused over a proposal under consideration for the government to control prices of new home construction. The National Association of Home Builders has asked its members to shower President Truman with protests.

Corporations—The Securities and Exchange Commission said corporations have ample funds for the task of reconversion and expansion. The S. E. C. estimated about 47 billions in available corporate wealth, after allowing for taxes and other debts.

More goods for you—the WPB has started a survey of all the major manufacturing industries to find out when their peacetime products will be available in quantity.

Cameras By Christmas
Film for snapshots—there should be a good deal of it by October 1. Cameras—a pretty good supply of simple ones by Christmas. Complicated ones later.

Typewriters—Over 120,000 expected to be produced by January 1. But commercial firms have ordered them in advance.

Butter—Starting Sunday it will take only 12 ration points to get a pound. Now it takes 16. Until last month it took 24.

Leather—WPB removed restrictions on using leather in a lot of things like luggage, belts and wallets.

Rousing Welcome For Winner Of CMH

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Sgt. Robert E. Laws, who won the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading an assault on a Jap pillbox in Luzon, was given a rousing reception by his home town Tuesday night.

The 24-year-old hero was officially designated the town's No. 1 citizen by Mayor H. Atlee Brumbaugh who presented him an "honorary" citizenship.

Speakers at a reception held in the high school included Congressman D. Emmert Brumbaugh of Claysburg and Commander James E. Van Zandt, former congressman of the 23rd district, home on leave from the Pacific campaign.

Laws, who received word of the award while a patient at McGuire General hospital in Richmond, Va., where he was recovering from wounds received on Luzon, was one of 28 given medals by President Truman in Washington last Thursday.

ers has asked its members to shower President Truman with protests.

Corporations—The Securities and Exchange Commission said corporations have ample funds for the task of reconversion and expansion. The S. E. C. estimated about 47 billions in available corporate wealth, after allowing for taxes and other debts.

September Draft Quota Is Slashed

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Pennsylvania's draft quota for the month of September has been placed by Selective Service headquarters at 3,500 men, a reduction of 4,100 from the original figure set for the month while the war was still in progress.

The draft age brackets have been reduced to the 18-25 group since military and naval requirements were cut.

TRAFFIC DEATHS SHOW INCREASE

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP)—After the slight easing of gasoline restrictions last June 22, the nation's July traffic death toll rose 15 per cent over the same month in 1944. The National Safety Council said Wednesday.

July traffic deaths were 2,030, making a total of 13,190 for the first seven months of 1945. Despite the increase of deaths throughout the country, 232 cities reported perfect records for July. Largest was Providence, R. I., with a population of 253,500; second was Norfolk, Va., with 252,000, and third was Omaha, Neb., with 223,800.

For the seven-month period 78 cities reported perfect records. Of these, Evanston, Ill., with 65,400 population, was largest. Second was Medford, Mass., with 63,000, and third was Lancaster, Pa., with 61,300.

There are about 191,779 railway bridges in the United States.
